Divorce Mediation Educational Session

Divorce mediation provides a positive, problem solving process for families choosing to limit court and attorney involvement in their divorce.

Divorce mediation begins with an educational session. Mary Kay will provide you an overview of the divorce process and discuss how mediation fits into the process. Mary Kay will describe the topics to be addressed in mediation and the information you will need to gather to effectively address these items. A plan of action may be formulated.

The education session lasts an hour, or more, and is billed at a flat rate fee of $250.00 that is to be paid prior to the session. Unless agreed otherwise, each party is to pay one-half of the fee, or $125.00 each.

Mary Kay assists families through mediation and serves as a neutral; not an attorney. Mary Kay is not providing you legal guidance and advice. You should obtain legal and financial advice as you deem appropriate.
